

Nebraska vs. Iowa State

Official Program – 15 cents

March 6, 1976

Tonight's final Big 8 game between Nebraska and Iowa State will give Husker fans a last chance to view the Cornhuskers' three seniors, along with the Coliseum, which will be retired after this evening's contest.

Seniors, Jerry Fort, Steve Willis and Larry Cox have provided many a basketball thrill during their days at the Coliseum. And the biggest thrill-maker of them all is Fort, a three-time All Big 8 performer from Chicago, Ill.

During his four years at Nebraska, Fort has become the greatest scorer in Husker basketball history, the only Cornhusker performer to earn conference honors three years in a row and the first Husker player in modern Nebraska history to letter four consecutive years.

"Without a doubt, Jerry Fort has accomplished more than any other performer in a Nebraska uniform," Cipriano said. "Jerry, along with Steve and Larry, rank as one of the best trio of seniors I've ever had."

Cox, a two-time All Big 8 Academic choice, has been a starter for the last three years. Even though 'small' for a center at 6-6, Cox consistently holds his own against taller players on both the offensive and defensive ends of the court.

Willis, a starter for the Huskers the past two years, was a transfer in 1974 from Northern Idaho Junior College and immediately fit into the Nebraska system. His defensive quickness and long range offensive goals have brought many a cheer to the Coliseum crowd.

Built in 1926, the Coliseum has been a welcome home for Husker basketball teams throughout the years and will long be remembered as the scene of many Cornhusker basketball memories.

Starting next season, Nebraska will be playing in its new home, a 15,000-seat sports center located on the state fairgrounds. But Husker fans won't have to wait that long to view the new facility, because it will be used for the upcoming Nebraska State High School Basketball Championships.

According to Cipriano, this has been his most gratifying year of his career. "This team has accomplished a lot, both for themselves and for the school," he said. "And on behalf of the staff and the team, I'd like to thank everyone for their enthusiasm and support."
